Quotes from the Vienna Music Tour past participants

“The venues were superb, the orchestra was precise, the audiences were overflowing and the music was spectacular. The detail all choirs were able to attain was quite masterful.

“The opportunity to conduct a Viennese orchestra with the New Mexico State University choirs will linger in my mind forever. So many tour companies put together a cappella concerts, but this was an opportunity of a lifetime that I haven't seen paralleled by other companies. My choir enjoyed every aspect of the tour. The motor coaches were first class, the hotels were wonderful, the tour guides were knowledgeable and kind and the sights were all included. Truly a fabulous experience for all our singers and their families!”

-- John Flanery, New Mexico State University

“We wanted a place for The Phoenix Symphony Chorus to travel to and perform in which would be a trip-of-a-lifetime for them, and MidAm International offered that for us in Vienna and Salzburg, Austria. It also was important for us to be able to perform on our own as well as with other groups, and that was included in our trip. In addition, it was a good chance to perform solo concerts without The Phoenix Symphony, our normal performing partner. This helped develop our confidence and polish our choral techniques. When we performed with others on Mozart's Requiem we were very happy to be in our normal symphonic repertoire "comfort zone," but even more thrilled to be doing it in Vienna with other new instrumentalist and vocalist friends.

“No question, it was a thrill to be in these ancient cities and be surrounded by the original culture and environment of the masters whose music we regularly perform in the United States.”

-- Tom Bookhout, The Phoenix Symphony Chorus

“Vienna is a wonderful city for making music in. We had an excellent orchestra, the collaboration with Martin Sedek's choir was very good, and my singers as well as those from Cascade Choir really rose to the occasion and sang well.

“The group had a wonderful set of tours that let them experience the history of Vienna and Salzburg. All of the singers came to me to say they would enjoy coming again. Having extra days in Salzburg was great. We had time to really absorb a culture different from Vienna. Even though these singers came well prepared, they realized that this was an advantage and will be better prepared for future music making.”

-- Matthew Harden, Madrigali et al.

Second Tour: We take you on a stroll through the atmospheric old city, seeing selected points of interest. You will discover some of the delightful features of Vienna and visit parts of the city only a true Viennese can point out.

The Old City: The first district is the oldest part of Vienna, where some sections date back to the Roman Empire. Narrow roads still paved with cobblestones and historic buildings are typical stopovers along the evolution of architectural style from Renaissance to baroque to today. One of the many special highlights is St. Stephen’s Cathedral, the finest Gothic structure in Austria. It boasts a high Gothic choir and a late Gothic nave with a steeply pitched roof and decorative glazed tiles. The regularly tapering south tower, popularly known as “Steffl”, is Vienna’s principal landmark. Major state services are held here, and Mozart’s funeral took place here.

Mozarthus Vienna: Though Mozart lived at a dozen different addresses in Vienna, the only apartment that has survived to this day is at Domgasse No. 5. The composer lived at this address from 1784 till 1787. Occupying 1,000 square meters on six levels, the Mozarthus was opened on January 27, 2006 – the 250th anniversary of Mozart’s birth. Visitors are immersed in the vibrant world of Mozart, experiencing his bountiful genius and creativity, his family, and his friends and foes in Vienna of the late baroque. His apartment on the first floor had four large rooms, two small ones and a kitchen. Throughout his life, Mozart attached great importance to outward appearances: only smart clothes and buckled shoes would suit him. www.mozarthusvienna.at Third Tour: Set off on your own musical journey at the House of Music, located in the historical site of the palace of Archduke Charles. Nestled in the center of Vienna, the House of Music's six floors invite you to the world of sounds. You will find that music is not only for listening: in the House of Music, you can see different sounds, feel them, and create them yourself. State-of-the-art computer installations will be your "tour guides." Visitors are encouraged to engage in interactive play with music: you will learn about music history, experience unexpected sounds, and will come to know the House of Music as a center for aesthetic, scientific, popular, and artistic musical encounters.

The Virtual Conductor: Experience conducting the Vienna Philharmonic! Each visitor gets a chance to conduct the Vienna Philharmonic in a virtual simulator. The orchestra abides by your instructions as you set the tempo and rhythm with your baton. For more information, visit www.hdm.at

The Vienna Philharmonic Museum: Experience the history of this unique orchestra. Separate from the House of Music's experience zones, the Vienna Philharmonic Museum is located on the first floor in what were formerly the magnificent rooms of the Palace. (Tour descriptions courtesy of Vienna's Columbus Management.)

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Many questions may be answered by a thorough reading of this residency document.

However, additional questions are addressed below:

1. How are ensembles selected for and invited to participate in this concert series?

Each and every ensemble has been specifically recommended or referred to us by music directors in the profession or by one of the more than 850 guest conductors who have appeared on our series since 1984.

2. For choral concerts, is it required that music be prepared prior to arrival?

Yes. Choruses or chorus members who are not thoroughly prepared will not be allowed to rehearse or perform in the concert.

3. When will we know the schedule for our residency?

Schedules (and rehearsal locations) are published 45 days in advance of your arrival. Please refer to the general residency schedule contained in this document for approximate rehearsal and tour times

4. When can we purchase air tickets and other reservations?

It is essential and critical that all groups wait until they receive written confirmation and a “go-ahead” from Joyce Howard-Brazel, Chief of Account Operations, before making any flight arrangements. This will occur after registrations have been received and the concert is confirmed.

5. What size audience can we expect at our concert?

Audiences are large and enthusiastic. MidAm International has a comprehensive public relations and audience development division that typically sees the vast majority of our international concerts sold out by concert time.

6. How are the concerts promoted and advertised?

Concerts are promoted extensively through local press and social media, along with hundreds of public and private business sources in each European location. This coverage, as well as efforts for press coverage in ensembles’ home locations are led by our director of public relations and publications.
